Fiona complained to her father about how hard she thought her schoolwork was. She didn't know how to make it and wanted to give up.

Fiona's father took her to the kitchen. He filled three pots with water and put each on a big fire. Soon the pots started to boil. In one he put carrots, in the second he put eggs, and in the last he put coffee powder (粉). He watched them boil, without saying a word.

Fiona waited, wondering what he was doing. In about 20 minutes he turned off the fire. He took the carrots and eggs out and put them on different plates. Then he poured the coffee in a cup. He asked, "Fiona, what do you see?" "Carrots, eggs, and coffee," she answered.

He asked Fiona to touch the carrots. She found that they were soft. He then asked her to take an egg and break it. She saw a hard-boiled egg after taking off the shell. Finally, he asked her to taste the coffee. Its rich smell brought a smile to her face.

The carrot was strong and hard at first, but it became soft and weak. The egg was weak, too. But after going through the boiling water, its inside became hard. The coffee powder changed the water and created something new. "Which one is you?" he asked Fiona. "When trouble comes to you, are you a carrot, an egg, or the coffee powder?" Each of them had the same trouble, but each reacted differently.

 - D. full of interesting or important facts
- () 53. Which of the following is NOT true?
- A. After going through the boiling water, the carrots became soft.
 - B. The hard-boiled egg used to be hard inside.
 - C. The coffee powder changed the water into coffee.
 - D. The boiling water is the same challenge for the three.
- () 54. What does Fiona's father want to tell her the most?
- A. Hard carrots turn soft in boiling water.
 - B. Learn from the hard-boiled egg when facing trouble.
 - C. If you can't change the situation, change yourself.
 - D. Always ask for help when you don't know what to do.
- () 55. What do you think of Fiona's father from the passage?
